IS FAIR HAIR BECOMINGXTINGT Discussing this question, whichas raised short time ago in the St. Jaine Fazette, the British Medical Journal says in forming opinions as to whether fair-bairpersons are less numerous in a particular local now than formerly, the element of age has to considered. A person who has apent his cihood in fair-haired district, and visits it hin after lapse of years may easily imagine t the number of fair-haired persons is fewer an formerly, merely on account of the cla of persons from whom he draws the inferenceing more adult than these of whom he hascolicctions formerly. Upon the rate at whichir darkens from childhood to a allt age viewe some valuable observations, which she that the hair of light-complexioned male chien darkens from 55 per cent. during the firste years of hife to 33 per cent, at 45 years, aldark hair with light eyes is found to increase about the same ratio. Darkening of the fene hair and eyes with age takes place to a muches extent than among males. It would appeatherefore, that in estimating the incresser dinution of fair-baired persons in a particula dispt, observations on females are much fore istworthy than on males, from the fact that there much Juneless liable to variations; but, on the our hand, it must be remembered that thecdiar a weman's har is more liable to alter wordy to th tint which is considered the not shionable at a particular time. Besides the ending of fair-haired races with the dark store here are other elements which Dr. Beddee Mown may account for the diminution of faider in England, and these should not be everled He considers that the xanthous temperam is less able to withstand the insanitary coudles existing 27, Natal French str. from Kobe in the crowded populations of except cities June Department than the melanotic, and that in the ay the law of natural selection operates agains increase. Again, as a large majority of womite and die unmarried and childless of is puble, in his opinion, that he physical qualities the race may be to a small extent moulded by action of of conjugat as well as natural select In support of this he has given statistics wing that of 737 women, only 55.5 per cent. chose with fair hair were unmarried sgainst per cent. with black. On classifying thought red, fair, and brown hair as "ble," and those with dark brown and by hair as

"dark." we have 359 of the formed 361 of the latter. Of the blondes he found per cent, which has hitherto characterized the British were married to 70.5 of the dark, and 32 per cent of the former were unmarried to 21.5 of the latter. If during several generations this preference among the male sex for wives with dark hair should continue, it is reasonable to suppose it would exert an influence decidedly adverse to the increase of fair-halfed persons being maintained. On various grounds, there-Mr. and Mrs. Cowasjee Jehangier Ready. fore it would seem as if the fair thir so much money held a reception last night in honour of beloved by poots and artists is doomed to be ensent. Lord Reay made a speech on the occasion place is probably very slow, from the fact that

"FRED BRINE"

The following notice of the late General Brine is from the Times of India :-The death of General Brine- Fred. Brine of a fantastic, eccentric, but very elever individustity. He joined the Royal Engineers in 1847 and managed to see a good deal of service all dre the world. He served as a Volunteer, and with much distinction, in the Orimean War. He was present at the chief naval engagement in Japan, and if we remember rightly, he started the Volunteer movement in Hengkong. For other services, not officially recorded, by was mide a Knight of the Tower and Sword of Portugal. He spent many years in the Public Works Department, and was for long Executive Engineer of the Agra Division. where he developed an inveterate dislike to the members of the Civil Service. During his different periods of furlough he travelled far and wide. He visited the Crimes more than once to report on the graves of the British soldiers buried there. His map of the tombs to day said that it wasgratifying to note the was warmly welcomed in hundreds of English households, while his writings put a stop to tions between Gorman and France; but he the neglect into which the cameterist had fallen.

He was one of the tention of hastening this germanization of that founders of the Belloon Society of England. and tried without much success to orose from Dover to Calaia. He then brought the idea of military ballooning out to India, and failing to A choleraid onthres has taken place at get an appointment as head of all the Volunteers in India was placed on general duty, and and several deaths haveccorred. Two thirds spent his time in travelling from place to place. It was at this period that he wrote a series of extraordinary latters in one of The cholers in Valenc, is extending to other the newspapers saying a trifle too frankly what he thought of all the private individuals he met, the lives they led the way they dressed and what they said, the hospitality they did or did not dispense, and so on. Then he In the House of Comons this evening Sir started off to Madagascar to help the Mada-John Gorst, replying to question, said that gashies sgainst the French. This was a trifle too much for the Government of India He was stopped at Zanzibar and ordered back to this country at once. He next made a somewhat foolish attempt to reach Upper Burmah from Chittagong, and after this last wild goose chase he went home for good; and from thence we have continued to hear from him from time to time in connection with the Balloon Campbell, Moore&Co. Society and the wrongs of the poor. General Brown & Co., H. G., Brine in his younger days had a great love China Borneo ........ Viotoria Nyanza. WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARINA PRONUNCIATION. An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office. Hongkong. For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stan is unrivalled. All the new [128] words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extense. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size francis thereby effecting a vast economy of and vacant spaces which have heretofore obaridterized Chinese publications. To illustrate the vast scope of the work the following facts are submitted for consideration:-Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16.000 Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult languar a absolutely requires examples to display the various applications and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as many as any other Dictionary hitheric published. For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively ... natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested in Chins it cannot but be invaluable occasion-

It comprises upwards of two thousand large 4 Vols IMPERIAL QUARTO, Price, $20. A Large REDUCTION in PRICE is made to Purchasers of SIX or more Copies.
